BOILER EXPLOSION

In the Penitentiary at Columbus, O.

Thirty-one Prisoners Injured, Six Fatally.

Great Damage to Property.

COLUMBUS, June 21.—A boiler in the extensive shops of the Ohio Brush and Wire Works, located within the walls of the Ohio Penitentiary, exploded this morning just after the convicts had started to work, with terrible noise and dread effect. The flying boiler tore out a large three story building, in which it was placed, making it a mass of ruins, and tore out the side walls and the roof of Huff's cooper shop, and George Gill's stove foundry, not far off. Pieces of the boiler were thrown a tremendous distance. At the time of the accident eighty-five men were in the brush shop and were just going to work. The shock was terrific, and yet no person was killed outright. Several men were blown out of the windows and fell with the debris from the fourth story of the building. One man at work in the lower story of the brush house was buried in the ruins and held for thirty minutes about the waist between two heavy timbers. The fireman and engineer in charge of the boiler were both buried under a great pile of brick and timber, but were dug out alive, considerably burned and bruised. Some escapes were almost miraculous.

The scene of the explosion is desolate enough. Great piles of brick, stone, timber and machinery lie in a confused mass, while manufactured articles and raw material are strewn over the ground for a long distance. As soon as possible a large force was put to work, and the men who were buried under the ruins were dug out and, with the other wounded, taken to the large and comfortable prison hospital, where scores of good nurses were on hand to care for them, and they are now all well cared for. The following is a complete list of the persons now in the hospital by reason of the accident, and it is probable all but a half dozen will recover with proper care: Harry Johnson, Hamilton county, fracture of left arm and wound in head and leg; Thomas Harding, Harding county, badly shaken up; Samuel Cook, Hamilton county, [illegible] in legs and chest; Thomas Scanlan, Clarke county, contused wound in arm and back; Edwin Button, Guernsey county, lacerated scalp wound and fractured shoulder blade; Cyrus H. Weavers, Hamilton county, contused scalp wound, broken ribs, fractured breast bone, and bruised chest; Harry Marshall, Hamilton county, contused wounds in arms, head, neck and shoulder; ——— Jones, Tolego, wounds and bruises on body and arms; Francis Sang, a United States prisoner sent from the Northern District, same wounds as Mr. Jones; Ewart B. Perkins, Morrow county, contused wounds on arm and legs badly bruised; James Dempsey, a United States prisoner from the Western District, slightly wounded; ——— Trussell, Preble county, wounded on arm and back; Harrison Smith, Miami county, lacerated scalp wound; Lester Tooley, Franklin county, badly scalded in the face; Thomas Michael, Cleveland, lacerated back; John Ryan, Miami county, burns on the arms and back, and contused wounds on the head and face; David Silk, Hamilton county, wounds in the back, head, fingers and face; W. W. Booth, Hamilton county, injured in bowels and arms; Louis Hook, Upton county, contused wound in side and elbow; W. Hazenbeck, Toledo, wounded in back, hand and head; J. Child, Licking county, contused wound in hip; George Wellington (colored), Cuyahoga county, wounded in head; Thomas Cosgrove, Seneca county, head lacerated; David Bard, Shelby county, belongs in Cincinnati, contused wound in head and back; Pat Ryan, Cuyahoga county, head and hands; Charles Walker, Van Wert county, contused wound on head; John Sharp, Lake county, wound in back; Frank Cain alias Davis, Erie county, head lacerated and contused wound in legs; John Snyder, Hamilton county, contused wounds in arms, head and back; Charles Cain alias Davis, Erie county, head lacerated and contused wound in legs; John Snyder, Hamilton county, wounded in head; Thomas Harding, Harding county, contused wound on head; John Sharp, Lake county, wounded in back; Frank Cain alias Davis, Erie county, head lacerated and contused wound in legs; John Snyder, Hamilton county, contused wounds in arms, head and back; Pat Ryan, Cuyahoga county, head and hands; Charles Walker, Van Wert county, contused wound on head; John Sharp, Lake county, wound in back; Frank

SATURDAY, JUNE 22, 1872.

WHAT is the significance of the fact that Mr. GREELEY is so warmly supported by the secession leaders generally, by Tammany Hall to a man, and by debauched political leaders of both parties generally? The fact is too conspicuous to be without a reason, and what that reason is people who pay attention to politics want to know. What is it? The question is a fair one, as well as extremely suggestive.

WHERE is Colonel A. K. MCCLURE? Nowhere in the New York conference to reconcile discontents to the candidacy of Mr. GREELEY does his name appear, and the distinction of representing Pennsylvania in that convocation was reserved for Mongow B. LOWRY solely. Has the Colonel bolted? His absence on the occasion was more to be noted than would have been his presence. Or, was he not invited at all? Rumor says so.

WHEN EVANS proved a defaulter it was Gen. HARTRANFT that commenced legal proceedings against him, and yet FORNEY with a portion of the "pickings" in his pocket, and MCCLURE, who is just using FORNEY as a convenient tool to defeat GRANT by defeating HARTRANFT first, undertakes to make people believe that HARTRANFT is guilty of complicity with EVANS! This is nearly as bad as making YERKES, the penitentiary convict, make an affidavit against HARTRANFT with the understanding that if BUCKALEW beats HARTRANFT for Governor YERKES should be pardoned.

IT would almost seem as if the uneasy ghost of FISK had brooded over the Erie market ever since his body was committed to the grave. Not longer than three weeks ago its stock touched 75, from which point it has continued to drop, until yesterday it reached 50. The fluctuations of price still continue, and all sorts of rumors are in circulation concerning the cause of the decline. It is said by some that a desperate movement is on foot to reinstate JAY GOULD in the Presidency, and that the break was caused by the operations of his London agent acting under instructions. Others say that the depression is owing to the manipulations of DANIEL DREW. Various rumors are afloat concerning the Presidency. One is to the effect that General SICKLES is on his way from Spain to assume that position, while yet another points to General MCCLELLAN as the next President. The worst phase of the matter is the effect of the decline on the luckless shareholders in England and this this country, who are the innocent victims of the gamblers.

"ONE by one," chants the lyric Louisville Courier-Journal, "the roses fall, and one by one the Bourbon Democracy drop into the GREELEY line." This characterization of the progress of the Liberal movement is quite true, and coming from a recognized organ of the Southern Democracy, is also significant. Not many days ago that journal said:

"There can be nothing more certain than that this Liberal movement is essentially Democratic, notwithstanding the fact that Horace Greeley and Gratz Brown are its exponents. It is Democratic because it seeks to accomplish the very ends for which the Democratic party has struggled for years."

This being the case there is no reason under the sun why the most incorrigible Bourbon of them all should not "drop into the GREELEY line," since, according to the above statement, the Liberal candidates are mere men of straw, selected for the express purpose of enabling the Democracy to carry out their designs. The "Bourbons" are coming up to the support of the movement simply because they see more and broader opportunities of reactionary success in ostensibly going with the tide than they could hope for in openly undertaking to stem it. But the people of the country have a pretty distinct idea of the ends for which the Democratic party has heretofore struggled, so that, although the charming frankness of the Courier-Journal merits hearty commendation, the patriotic admonition which it unconsciously conveys really was not needed.

THE GRAND SENSATION.

The big Boston Jubilee has now progressed sufficiently far to enable people to form a comparatively adequate opinion of its esthetic and artistic quality. There seems, according to the estimate which the public generally to be considerable basis for the doubt we expressed some days ago as to whether its predicted importance in these particulars had not been a good deal over-prophesied. Successions of musical sounds do not necessarily constitute music, any more than skillfully strung words constitute an argument, or the clever spreading of colors on canvass forms a painting. Of course there can be neither music, nor oratory, nor painting, without their agency, but these are only the body, and need, in order truly to deserve the name of art, to have breathed through and through them the breath of creative imagination. It is probable that the stray notes of a bird in this month of June would be a better treat to a lover of art for its own sake, than the most swelling billows of this vast musical maelstrom, as it has been not inaptly termed. There is another thing about this jubilee, and all other monster festivities of its kind, which we do not recollect to have seen mentioned, but which nevertheless deserves to be pondered. Their tendency is to deaden the faculty of calm and quiet enjoyment of the natural and refreshing pleasures which strew the pathway of our daily lives. People whose palates are vitiated with alchohol have no conception of the exquisite satisfaction to be derived from a glass of pure spring water, and the same is true with regard to literature and art. The bane of the age is that placid delights no longer content people, they must have clash and clangor, a whirl and rush and roar. This is all wrong, and the sooner we unlearn the influence of it the better, even though there should never be another Boston jubilee until doomsday.

HOW ABOUT PENNSYLVANIA?

The Tribune asks, "How about Pennsylvania?" In its attempt to gain an answer it quotes from a Huntingdon Republican paper some comments of such unsatisfactory import that we will undertake to relieve its anxiety. And let us be candid about it. In regard to a portion of the Republican State ticket there exists some dissatisfaction, created by misrepresentations, and consequent misapprehension regarding Gen. HARTRANFT. But Gen. HARTRANFT is a pure, honest and an abused man; and furthermore he is a tried patriot, whom the people of Pennsylvania have twice indorsed at the polls. Col FORNEY, who is the only man known to have received a portion of the EVANS swag, to cover his own shame has raised a cry against him, when the fact is that it was HARTRANFT that commenced suit against EVANS on account of his delinquencies. Had he, as FORNEY tries to make people believe, been a participant, like FORNEY, in the swindle, would he have done this? The Republicans of Pennsylvania, as a body, are high toned and honorable, and will not sanction wrong. And there is no danger of their visiting on General HARTRANFT the sins of others. FORNEY is completely in the toils of MCCLURE who thus uses the Press and its editor to defeat GRANT. It is not HARTRANFT that is meant, but GRANT; for MCCLURE knows that the way to beat GRANT is to beat HARTRANFT first. And precisely this is the game. It will succeed if a sufficient number of Republicans can be drawn into it by MCCLURE, FORNEY & CO. It is preposterous, however, to suppose that such a thing is possible. We can tell the Tribune that Pennsylvania will be Republican in October, and will vote for GRANT and WILSON in November. Because MCCLURE, FORNEY & CO. with the taint of EVANS on their garments, don't like HARTRANFT, misrepresent him, invent falsehoods about him and misinterpret his actions, the Republicans are not going over to Greeley'sm, or do anything in October that will tend to defeat GRANT in November.

RETIRING PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY OF THE CONNELLSVILLE RAILROAD.

The resignation of W. ODEN HUGHART, Esq., President of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company, has already been announced. The resignation, as was also that of Mr. J. H. PAGE, Secretary and Treasurer, was accepted at a meeting of the Board of Directors, held on the 20th instant. The Board, in accepting these resignations, took occasion to express formally their high appreciation of the manner in which these gentlemen had fulfilled the important trusts confided to them, and to express regret at their retirement. The resolutions adopted by the Board—which are of the most complimentary character—are printed in another column.

Mr. HUGHART, during his presidency of the company, has discharged his duties with an assiduity and perseverance highly commendable. He assumed control at a time when it required extraordinary effort to secure the completion of the road to Connellsville. He not only succeeded in accomplishing this task, but in doing so encountered difficulties and surmounted obstacles which few men would have had the nerve and endurance to overcome. There were dark days in the history of the Connellsville Railroad, but even in the darkest of these Mr. HUGHART never despaired of ultimate success. His great aim was to secure the completion of the road to Cumberland, and give to the shippers of Pittsburgh a competing line to the Atlantic seaboard. The fruits of his labors, which are acknowledged to be of the most substantial character, are now being reaped by our merchants and manufacturers, and will continue to prove mutually advantageous so long as a just and liberal policy is pursued on the part of those managing the company. Mr. HUGHART leaves the road free from all embarrassments, either of a legal or financial character, and capable of attaining the most gratifying results in the way of earnings. He will be succeeded by Mr. KEYSER, of Baltimore, a gentleman of large experience in railroad matters. In assuming the duties of his office, he will find a wide field for the exercise of his executive abilities. As the chief officer of this important line, much will be expected of him, and there are reasonable grounds for predicting that he will not disappoint the public expectations. Mr. PAGE, the retiring Secretary and Treasurer, has discharged his duties with signal ability and fidelity, and both these officers leave the road with the highest commendations of our citizens for the energy and enterprise which they have shown in forwarding the road to completion, and placing it upon a safe and prosperous basis.

NOTHING TO BE SORRY FOR.

At Geneva the arbitration business drags its slow length along in a manner well adapted to irritate those impatient spirits who fail to consider the huge ponderosity of the affair. With reference to the final result of the deliberations of the arbitrators, national agents, and counsellors as regards the fate of the Treaty, hope and despondency are at present pretty evenly balanced, and it would be foolish to bet largely on either side. As matters now stand, the only persons who seem especially worthy of sympathetic commiseration are those unhappy politicians on each side of the Atlantic, who believe that their respective nations have been involved in irreparable dishonor. For Britons who take such a melancholy view of the effects of the Treaty an American must be very good natured who has any compassion to spare. They must even be left to the great consoler, time, and if the consolation thence derived should prove feeble and unsatisfactory, it can not be helped. The misery of a small body of our compatriots over what seems to them the indelible disgrace brought upon the American name by the recent negotiations is better entitled to consideration and indulgence. Their woe is not at all hopeless, and may be confidently expected to give way to complacency if not joy on the application of easily accessible remedies. To ascribe their sorrow to lack of knowledge might be impolite, and we prefer to refer it to lack of reflection, which is a deficiency quite pardonable under the circumstances of the country. The pending Presidential election is a most weighty business, and these disconsolate ones feel that much of it rests upon their shoulders. Then, despite their patriotism and their resolution not to mingle foreign and domestic questions, the temptation sometimes proves irresistible to assail the President on account of the treaty.

In considering the conduct of the Administration in the late proceedings touching the Alabama claims it must not be forgotten that we are not yet in possession of all the information necessary to a just judgment. The facts hitherto given to the public are fragmentary, and important gaps have to be supplied by the imagination. In view of all the details with which we are acquainted it is safe to say that at the present moment the American Government unmistakably occupies vantage ground in the controversy. That it was a mistake to advance the indirect claims in the American case, can not be denied, and the mistake was intensified by the vehement ad captandum style in which they were urged. But throughout the entire subsequent controversy on the subject of dispute thus raised, we doubt not that candid foreigners will admit that American bearing and language have appeared in favorable contrast to British bearing and language. While in Parliament and in the English press the subject was treated with undue violence and bad manners, on this side of the sea, with insignificant exceptions, moderation of tone and fairness of argument have marked the discussion of the subject both in the newspapers and in the national Legislature. In justice to the English, however, it ought to be remembered that whatever capious objections, obstinacy, and impracticties have characterized their dealing with the great subject, have been largely due to the interference of those arrogant aristocrats whose ignorance and prejudices involved their country in the Alabama embarrassment, and who are still almost as incapable as ever of comprehending either the resources or the spirit of the American people. These are the men who have forced the Liberal Cabinet now in power to stickle about trifles, and the patience and long suffering with which President GRANT for great and beneficent ends has borne their quibbling and haggling, sustained under the trial by the tolerant magnanimity of his constituents, redound, we doubt not, to the honor of both in the estimation of the world. The talk of some American papers about "backing down," "playing the lamb," etc. is not creditable. It is not thus that the English people interpret the President's quiet and reasonable forbearance, and its approval by the American people. Though still not as well informed as they ought to be, they know too much about the Yankee nation to suspect for a moment that its members are deficient in courage and public spirit. Even the Lords, temporal and spiritual, give us credit for these qualities. In the little book used for half a century by English governesses and tutors in teaching little boys and girls geography, "energetic, brave, high-spirited," are the epithets associated with the American name, and nothing has happened to cause a revision of the manual in that passage. As even the largest sum of money involved in the present controversy is a trifle of concern to only a few persons, even Tories can put no other interpretation on American patience and concession than our sincere desire for international peace and fair play. Judges, both of themselves by themselves, they have not heretofore given them credit for entertaining such sentiments, and in the future relations of the two countries the best results are to be hoped for from the demonstration; not to mention that it was absolutely necessary in order to fasten upon the English the responsibility of destroying the treaty, if such is to be its fate.

THE SOLDIER'S FRIEND.

How Senator Wilson Aided the Boys in Blue —Letter from One of Them.

BELLAIRE, BELMONT COUNTY, OHIO, June 19, 1872.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

It being probable that a good many of my old comrades in arms do not, like myself, individually know how Senator HENRY WILSON, Republican candidate for Vice President, worked for the private soldiers, I want to tell you what he did in my case. I was a private soldier, and in 1867, after my discharge, I wrote him a letter about a certain bounty to which myself and another private in the the same company were entitled, but which the pay. master, on one pretext or another, had refused to pay. Senator WILSON did not do many more things than I have done, and say, "O pshaw! its only a private soldier's letter, without indorsement from a superior officer," but he went to work as soon as possible, and notwithstanding the tedious nature of the business —he having to look after a period of three years —did not rest until everything was cleared up satisfactorily, and we got our money. I hope my old comrades will appreciate what he has done for them and is still doing for their benefit and comfort.

FRANK FRIEND,
Formerly of Co. I., First United States Artillery.

Ayer's Latin School.

Ayer's Latin School is so firmly established and so well known in this community as to be quite above the need of formal commendation from any quarter. But in these days of school pretension and prosperous imposition in educational matters, a truly good grammar school, so furnished, managed, and taught as to answer the reasonable expectations of patrons and pupils, is well entitled to the unstinted recognition of everyone interested in general culture and social progress. A glance at the "Catalogue for 1871-72," just published, suffices to discover that the school enjoys the patronage of many of the most respectable families of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and from personal knowledge of the patient and accurate instruction therein imparted, we are able with confidence to say that the school merits even greater favor than it receives. Mr. Edward D. Mason, A. B., engaged as teacher of Classical and English studies for the next year, is a graduate of Dartmouth College, and was the first scholar in his class of over seventy students.

PERSONAL.

Madame Peschka Leutner is reported to carry off the honors of the Jubilee. Critics say they have rarely seen a more signal success achieved by a new singer, and have rarely known applause to be more worthily bestowed. The immense spaces of the coliseum do not absorb her penetrating voice, and though she seems to put forward no great effort, not a charm of her beautiful vocalization is lost.

The claimants of heirship to Sir Francis Drake, who assembled for the third or fourth time in New York the other day, seem sadly in need of a competent leader. In other words the Drakes have no "dux."

Mrs. Laura Fair is to have a new trial on Tuesday. Her request to be tried out of San Francisco was refused, and a call for two hundred jurors has been issued. After the long pause between the crime and the present, it will be hardly possible to bring in the same verdict, however.

The venerable Mrs. Somerville, the well-known authoress of the Connection of the Physical Sciences, now in her ninety-second year, was present and saw the late eruption of Vesuvius.

When Strauss appeared in the Boston Coliseum, in the passage way to the conductor's stand he was wildly cheered, and the waving of handkerchiefs was as the eddying of large snow flakes in the wind. His leading is said to be immensely droll. He divides his time between waving the baton and playing the violin, while his entire body sways, jumps and starts with every note of the music, a species of Partini's "Devil's Dance" in petto, or a dancing master on the leader's stand. It took with the audience immediately, Germans and Irish and they applauded the little Austrian to the very echo, which was taken up by the roofers above, who were hard at work, and hammered merrily.

Five European Princes, none of whom, however, belong to reigning families, are married to American ladies. In this connection it is apropos to mention that the Princess of Holstein-Hoer, an American woman, has sued the relatives of her deceased husband for $2,000,000.

The three principal representatives of the Shakers of this country, namely, Frederic W. Evans, and Elderesses Antoinette Doolittle and Olive Holden, are on a visit to Brooklyn, and stopping at the residence of Theodore Tilton. They are large and portly persons, but in good health, and hold that celibacy conduces to longevity.

Rev. Wm. C. Van Meter, so widely known for his noble work in connection with the Howard Mission, or Home for Little Wanderers, in New York, has left that city for the scene of his new work for the children in the city of Rome, Italy.

The interminable Cheney case is up again in Chicago. The trial is on an application by three members of the church for an injunction to restrain Mr. Cheney from occupying its pulpit and officiating as its pastor, for the reason that he is under an ecclesiastical sentence of degradation from the ministry of the Episcopal church. This application is resisted by Mr. Cheney and the officers of the church. The motion for an injunction is not yet decided.

Gratz Brown has promised to visit Arkansas this summer, "because he feels that Arkansas did her part nobly at Cincinnati."

The current rumor that Frederick Hudson is about to return to the management of the Herald is authoritatively denied by that gentleman in a letter to a friend in New York. The Herald will be managed, as for several years past, by James Gorden Bennett, Jr., who, by the death of his father, becomes sole proprietor of the paper. Mr. Hudson will continue to reside at Concord, Mass.

Out in Missouri there is a venerable couple —Mr. and Mrs. Cheek, who were born in North Carolina respectively in 1769 and 1774, and were married ninety years ago. Mr. Cheek enlisted in Jackson's command, and served under him during the war with the Creek Indians, participating in the battles of Tallahatchie, Talladega, Autosse, Emucfau, Horse Shoe Bend and others of less note, being present when the renowned chief Weatherford surrendered and delivered his last sad speech. They have reared a family of eleven children, all of whom are now living —the youngest, a daughter, being forty-two years old. All have married and have families except one son. The ten families have reared one hundred grandchildren, eighty still living. Twenty-three of these grandchildren have married, forming twenty-three new families with sixty children. Of these great grandchildren fifty are living, some of whom are enough to marry. This is a prolific family, remarkable for longevity, honesty, frugality and industry.

It had been thought that Queen Victoria had so far regained her strength that on her return from the north she would be able to resume her public duties. Such, however, is not the case, and the Lancet states decidedly that any considerable exertion during the summer months would be sufficient to induce a return of the painful illness with which she suffered last autumn.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

The lively little English sparrows imported into New York have done good service in their adopted home. The measuring worm has succumbed to their watchful eyes and sharp beaks. Since this triumph, they have selected flies and mosquitoes as the dainties with which to regale themselves.

Western papers state that larger quantities of wool are being brought to market this season than was ever known before.

A movement is on foot among the members of the New York Stock Exchange to enlarge the Fourth of July holiday so as to embrace the succeeding two days, and thus postpone business from the evening of July 3 to the beginning of the next week.

A heavy fall of blood colored rain occurred in southern Italy simultaneously with the last eruption of Mount Vesuvius. The particles of sand which caused the color are found by analysis to be exactly similar to the sand of the African deserts. Did the commotion extend so far?

Denmark has a school furnished for a thousand children. One session is held in the morning and another in the afternoon, and each session is attended by a different body of children, both being under the same general head. The pupils, therefore, attend school only half a day. The system is said to work well, and might perhaps be adopted with advantage in some of our crowded cities.

This is the penalty of disorder. Within the past few years Paris has lost four hundred thousand of its resident inhabitants. The number of vacant apartments exceeds forty thousand. Rents have fallen in a proportion which ranges from one-eighth to one-fourth. The depreciation in the value of land and house property is estimated at twenty per cent.

The British Society for the advancement of Art offers five thousand dollars reward for a pigment or covering that will perfectly protect iron from rust and fouling.

The Italian government has announced an open competition for a life-size statue of Joseph Mazzini. All sculptors, foreign and native, are invited to present models. A similar course has been pursued by the committee charged with the erection of a public monument to the memory of the late Vice Admiral de Tegetthoff in the city of Vienna.

A swarm of bees the other day attempted to light on the corner of a railroad car in one of the interior towns of New York, driving the best passengers out in a most bewildering hurry.

An automaton pigeon, that flies like a thing of life, has been invented and is recommended for the prevention of cruelty at shooting matches.

And now they have found coal in Zanzibar, which is in Africa, and the place where the Herald expedition came out of the wilds, only Stanley did not find the coal; the British Consul did that.

Among the ludicrous incidents at the Boston Coliseum, the other day, was the mistake of a member of the Executive Committee, who, presuming that the servant of Herr Strauss, with his gold-laced hat and knee breeches, was a Turkish naval officer, busied himself for an hour endeavoring to get up an official reception for his supposed Excellency.

Huntington county, New Jersey, has a gold excitement. A certain substance has been found near Point Pleasant which is pronounced gold.

An ornithological collection for the State of Florida, that shall include specimens of all the birds indigenous to that State, is about to be made. As they are very numerous, and many of them extremely beautiful, such a collection will be very interesting.

The court house at Johnstown, New York, is the oldest court house in the State, if not in the Union, and, being so, there will be a centennial celebration of this event at Johnstown, on June 26th, when an address will be delivered by ex-Governor Seymour.

Twenty indictments have been returned in the United States Court against parties, Indians and others, concerned in the Going Snake, Indian territory, massacre, including the judge of the court then in session.

Virginia has amended her constitution so as to make it lawful to receive any rate of interest, not exceeding twelve per cent. per annum, which may be agreed upon by the original parties and specified in the note, bond or other writing evidencing the debt. The motive of the amendment is doubtless to attract capital to that State for investment.

The Vermont Central and Passumpsic River Railroad lines are soon to have a race to determine which shall have the contract for carrying the British mails, the one making the best time to have the award. It is to be hoped that if there are any passengers on the occasion, they will have the precaution to insure their lives before starting.

What the Weak Need.

Why do the debilitated and feeble dread the summer? It is because heat is an exhausting element, and they are not in a condition to bear the new drain upon their languid systems, which they think must necessarily commence with the warm weather. But cannot this evil be obviated? Most indubitably it can. What these weaklings need—in fact, what nine-tenths of us need at this season—is an accession of physical vigor, and this desideratum can be secured with absolute certainty, by a course of the mightiest, yet mildest, of all vegetable tonics. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Thousands of men of business, mechanics and professional men, break down partially or wholly, under their summer labors, simply because they have neglected to reinforce the powers of nature in this way. To persons who use the celebrated invigorant and corrective regularly in hot weather, the exhaustion which excessive heat is apt to produce under other circumstances is unknown. They are not troubled with nausea, their appetites are good, their digestion excellent, and their habit of body all that can be desired. This for twenty years has been the uniform testimony of all who have taken the Bitters as a summer tonic and alternative. Its efficacy is due to the care and scrupulous fidelity to the teachings of experimental science, with which its medicinal ingredients have been culled from the vegetable kingdom, the admirable proportions in which they are combined and the unequalled purity of its stimulative basis.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

FRIDAY EVENING, June 21, 1872.

In local money circles there is no change worthy of note, money being loaned out to customers at bank rates, while the brokers seem to have a good deal of money seeking investment.

—In the New York market the dullness is so supreme that there is little or no change in the stock list as it comes in from hour to hour. The old favorite of the street, Erie, is again attracting the attention of the speculators. The "bears" have it this time, and the shorts at seventy and above are happy. The combining under one management of Erie and the Atlantic and Great Western is a move which will probably be consummated. While it may save the latter from utter bankruptcy, it will not tend to increase the value of Erie shares, whatever may be the price. It is intimated that Gould will yet appear in his old place at the head of the directors.

—Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co. report the following quotations of Government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cooke & Co., their correspondents:

—The bids for the Treasury gold amounted to $8,825,000, of which $2,000,000 was awarded at from 113.47 to 113.26.

—New York State has decided to pay her obligations, amounting to $500,000, which mature July 1st next, in coin, although under the recent legal tender decisions, the State could legally pay in paper. This decision ought to strengthen the credit of the State, as it is a new evidence of a settled policy of the authorities to redeem the obligations of the State in hard money.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
FRIDAY, June 21, 1872.

REMARKS—The market was decidedly weak, buyers and sellers being apart in their views. Prices rule about the same as those demanded at the date of our last report. Buyers are evidently not disposed to take hold at present. This being the situation we can only furnish the asking rates.

CRUDE

We continue to quote spot 10c; June 10c; July 10c; Parker's $3 80 per bbl. For prices in other parts of the oil regions see dispatches.

REFINED.

For Eastern delivery oil is offered as follows: Spot 22¾c; June 22¾c; July 23¾c; August 23c. No sales reported.

OIL BARRELS.

Dealers report the market steady without any change in prices. We quote city brands @ 1 sal 85; country @ 1 72a1 75. The low stage of water in the Ohio will prevent receipts by that channel.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
FRIDAY, June 21, 1872.

The run of cattle to-day fair and the quality not very good. The market continues dull and slow with no very good feeling ruling, as advices report eastern markets dull and weak, with some lots in the pens unsold, and it looks if owners would have to sell for low prices, or take chances by holding over until next week. Following are the rates current for the different grades: Extra, 1,400 to 1,500 lbs steers, $5 90; prime, 1,250 lbs steers, $6 75 to $6 85; good, 1,200 lbs steers, $6 59 to $6 60; fair, 1,000 lbs steers, $5 75 to $6 25; bulls, $3 00a4 00; cows, $3 50 to $4 50; stock steers, $5 to $5 50.

Hogs.

The receipts of hogs light to-day. The market opened up active with an advance of 20c per hundred over prices which ruled yesterday morning. In the Sixth ward pens 500 head of good hogs are made about as fast as they arrive. To-night the market closes firm at the following figures: Extra Philadelphia $4 63; prime Philadelphia $4 50 to $4 60; good to fair, $4 40; common Yorkers $4 20 to $4 25.

Sheep.

No sheep arrived at these yards to-day, and none wanted as market ruled bad all week. There are some six loads in the pens unsold which will have to be held over. A great many sheep have been shipped through on first hands, on account of purchasers. The market closed dull and depressed at about the following prices: Extra, 90 lb sheep, $5 25 to $5 50; prime 90 to 85 lb sheep, $4 75 to $5 00; fair to to 75 lb, $4 25 to $4 50; common $3 00 to $4 00.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE PIG IRON AND BLOOM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
SATURDAY, June 22, 1872.

The iron market has undergone no material change since our last report. The sales are fully as large as could be expected, taking the season into consideration. The stocks in the hands of producers and consumers are small, and the receipts continue moderate. Most of the mills will be arranging for the usual stoppage for stock-taking and repairs at the close of the month. We, therefore, cannot expect a more active business until the mills again resume operation. We are reported the following sales:

A DEADLY ENCOUNTER.

Mysterious Affair on Thirty-eighth Street—The Secretary of the Pittsburgh and Birmingham Passenger Railway Company Shot on His Own Door Step—Escape of the Assassin.

The vicinity of Thirty-eighth street and Penn avenue was thrown into an unusual state of excitement last night by the report that Robert Kirkwood, the Secretary of the Pittsburgh and Birmingham Passenger Railway Company, had been shot dead on his own door step. At eleven o'clock one of our reporters visited Mr. Kirkwood's residence, on Thirty-eighth street, a short distance south of Penn avenue, and found the wounded man lying on the floor of his parlor perfectly unconscious. Deputy Mayor Nichols and Alderman Barr were present, and from these and two gentlemen we gleaned the following information: Mr. Kirkwood is a widower, with one son; he has had, as his housekeeper, a Mrs. Post; this lady has had, as her lodger, a cigar maker, in the employ of Peter Wortzell; about half past nine o'clock last evening Mr. Kirkwood was sitting on a chair at the door of his dining room, which opens into the yard connected with his premises; he was talking to her son a lad of some twelve or fourteen years, when the man Flinders referred to came sneaking up an alley along side of the house, and without speaking a word fired at Mr. Kirkwood. The ball entered the gentleman's left ear and passed into the head. Finder, it is stated, lingered about the yard for a few minutes, and then made a sudden disappearance. Some neighbors, who had been attracted by the report of the pistol, once hastened to the scene and carried Mr. Kirkwood into the sitting room, where our reporters found him. Dr. Herron and Arensberg attended him, but finding it impossible to trace the course of the bullet or to extract it, did all in their power for the unfortunate man. Both physicians gave it as their opinion that Mr. Kirkwood would not recover, and thought it impossible for him to survive until this morning. Deputy Mayor Nichols was summoned when Mr. Kirkwood made a statement substantially in accordance with the facts detailed above. The neighbors state that the trouble was all about Mrs. Post, Finder's lover. The assassin, it is stated, had received a promise from Mr. Kirkwood that he would marry Mrs. Post, and that because he did not fulfil his contract the latter shot him. An interview with Mrs Post failed to get any solution of the troubles between Kirkwood and Flinders. In reply to the question proposed by Deputy Mayor Nichols, "What is this all about?" Mrs. Post replied, "If I told, Kirkwood would kill me." This is about all that is known of the affair.

The neighbors state that an intimacy has existed between Mrs. Post and Mr. Kirkwood which has long since have culminated in marriage, but the statement is only given as the gossip of parties about Mr. Kirkwood's house last night, and should not be given any attention.

Detective James Scott and Lieutenant Irwin of the Mayor's police promptly appeared on the scene, and at once started in pursuit of the assailant, but up to three o'clock this morning no trace of Flinders had been discovered.

The unfortunate man, who if not dead at the present writing, will scarcely survive, is spoken of in the highest terms by his neighbors and in the mercantile community bears an enviable reputation. It is the hope of the people that the cowardly assassin will be speedily secured and promptly brought to justice.

A Long Delayed Arrest.

Last evening a detective on Mayor Callow's force arrived from Cincinnati with a prisoner named Wm. H. Mentz, against whom an information for forgery had been lodged some time ago. He committed about a year ago, and an information made before Mayor Callow, but the accused succeeded in eluding arrest until yesterday. The accused, at the time he started, had drawn up a four months note for the amount of $166 in favor of Fred Kaufman, to which he forged the name of his father, and thus secured the money. He then repaired to Cincinnati, and his whereabouts were not known until a few days ago, when an officer was dispatched to effect his arrest. Mr. Mentz, the father of the young man, is a butcher, and resides on Spring Garden avenue. It is likely that the case will be compromised.

A Traveller Robbed.

A young man named Jas. McPherson was relieved of his pocket-book yesterday containing one hundred and twenty dollars. He arrived in the city on the Pennsylvania Road from the East, and when nearing the city, a well dressed man, giving his name as Henry Jenkins sought his acquaintance, and inquired where he was going. He replied that he was going to visit his aunt at McKeesport, and of course, the stranger was going to the same place. When the train arrived at the Union Depot, the stranger asked him to watch his carpet sack a few minutes. The stranger then left and has not yet returned. After he had been gone a short time, McPherson discovered that his pocket-book was missing, and then realized his situation.

Fire This Morning.

This morning at half-past two o'clock flames were discovered issuing from the stable of N. P. Dudley, veterinary surgeon, located on West Diamond street, above Ohio street, Allegheny. An alarm was sounded, which was promptly responded to by the firemen. The fire spread rapidly, and soon the entire building was in flames. The building contained about twelve horses, three of which were burned to death, and one or two seriously. The remaining horses were taken out uninjured.

The loss will reach $1,000. Through the exertions of the firemen, the flames were confined to the building in which they originated.

Pardoned.

James Chambers, who was convicted at the March term of court of passing counterfeit money, and sentenced to the Western Penitentiary two years and three months, and fined five hundred dollars, was pardoned yesterday. The fine was also remitted.

STATE POLITICS.

The Municipal Reform convention of the First Senatorial district, Philadelphia, made the following nominations on Tuesday: Senator, Col. Robert P. Dechert; delegate to Constitutional Convention, Ellis K. Price.

In its last issue the West Chester Jeffersonian uses this language: "Should the Baltimore Convention prove faithless to its trust, and so far humiliate and degrade itself as to take Mr. Belmont's advice and nominate for the Presidency Horace Greeley, the chief author of our woes and misfortunes, its action would be repudiated either by the nomination of a new ticket or the defeat of the candidates at the polls. Not one-half of the Democratic vote of the country could be bolted for the consistent slanderer and maligner of our party and its principles."

The Democrats of Greene county have nominated the following ticket. For Senate, W. T. H. Pauley; Assembly, John Hagen; Delegates to Constitutional Convention, Charles A. Black; Commissioner, Wm. J. Cosgray; Prothonotary, H. H. Lindsey; Clerk of Court, H. C. Pollock; Register and Recorder, T. J. Hoskinson; District Attorney, Wm. A. Hook.

Evans; Prothonotary, Dawson Adams; Clerk of the Court, Isaac Sherrick; Register and Recorder, E. H. Denny; Commissioner, Joseph Guynn; District Attorney, J. P. HOLD ON! Don't root up that evergreen. It may have life in it, though the foliage looks as though life had passed through it. A writer in an eastern paper says that the evergreens are not killed, the foliage, the leaves only, are hurt, and as they fail a new growth appears, the trees attain their former beauty and vigor. He advises those who have evergreen trees or hedges to cut them back one-third, pruning well the side limbs.

THE Third ward school Board of Allegheny convened last evening. Bids were opened for the construction of an iron fence around the new school house on Chestnut street. The contract was awarded to Mr. C. Zweidel, who offered to construct the fence for four dollars and ten cents per foot. His condition is represented as being quite critical, his abdomen having been badly hurt, and his spine injured to such an extent that the blood ran from his mouth. WAR'S on the Mexico is of considerable importance, but during this intolerable hot weather what's on the head is a matter of yet greater moment. Observing, yesterday, the dreadful discomfort of several of the city police under the oppressive weight of their heavy cloth caps—for truth it shows must have suffered greatly to take off their caps and stand bare-headed in the broiling sun, as in the case of the—we thought it our duty to bring more than an act in accordance with the dictates of common humanity for the Mayor and the Police Commissioners to provide, or at least permit the members of the force themselves to provide, airy and comfortable straw hats during the hot season. These hats need not interfere in the slightest with the distinctive regularity of the uniform, they might themselves be uniform in style and make. We hope the suggestion will be acted on.

THE Lewistown, Pa., Gazette, puts it thus: One of the instances still remaining on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and a matter of no small annoyance to passengers, is the news and candy sellers, who pester every passenger in the cars at least once in each half hour. At present a passenger starting from New York for any point on this side, for the West, or for the Pacific coast, will probably have a Greeley document thrust under his nose from a hundred to a thousand times, according to the distance, and gum drops and candies enough to supply a small frontier shop. The Greeley documents, a passenger informs us, the newsboys sell if they can, and if one is not willing to be fleeced by paying for such trash, they are given away. Many railroads have long since abolished such nuisances and afford a remarkable contrast with those who have not; and it is somewhat singular that a great road like the Pennsylvania, usually lending in comforts for passengers, should be ten years behind the age in this respect.

THE "Long Strike" is a drama quite familiar to the play-goers of this city, it having had a very successful run at the Pittsburgh Opera House last season. The piece was performed at Harrisburg recently. The audience were spell-bound when it came to the court scene, and the judge asked the question: "Guilty or not guilty?" A well-dressed, intelligent looking gentleman left his seat in the center of the parquette, wended his way through the crowd to the edge of the stage and very calmly called out: "Stop!" The actor, who was personating the part of Montgomery, thinking the man intoxicated, walked down to the footlights and the following dialogue ensued: "Will you oblige me by taking your seat, sir?" The gentleman replied: "I want to give an opinion." "Well," said the worthy manager, "we are willing to hear it." The stranger proclaimed in a loud voice: "It was not that man, (pointing to the prisoner, Jem Starkie,) who killed him. I saw who did it. I saw the person shoot him from behind the hedge." Then turning upon his heel, he left the theater, escorted by a police officer, still venting his anger in subdued curses upon the injustice of the English courts, which refused to take the evidence of an eye witness. The man was not intoxicated, as was at first supposed, but his imagination became excited to such a degree that he forgot where he was, and thought the murder and trial reality.

Deception.

When purchasers inquire for the beautiful Celestes Organ, some dealers represent that there is no such instrument, or that the instrument they are trying to sell has the Celestes' stop. But we caution our readers against believing any such misrepresentations. You will decide at once, as hundreds of others have done, that this is the real Celestes. For sale only by the wholesale and retail agents, S. Hamilton & Co., 51 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh.

Put Your Money in a Savings Bank.

There are very few persons who fully realize the importance of "taking care of the pennies," and there are probably fewer yet who are aware how rapidly they accumulate when deposited in a savings bank at interest which may be compounded. Nearly every person in this "great hive of industry" is able to lay up for a "rainy day" a portion of his earnings, and the importance of savings banks cannot be overestimated in a city like ours. Among our most reliable institutions of this kind and one that is exceedingly popular, is the well known and old established one, the Wylie Avenue Savings Bank, corner of Wylie avenue and Elm street. Six per cent. interest is allowed on time deposits, which is as high a rate of interest as can be obtained on investments of this character.

Franklin, of Allegheny, which adjusts all its risks promptly and satisfactorily. To obtain policies from this company you will not be far preferable to insuring in a company located in some remote quarter of the globe, and of whose standing you are in comparative ignorance.
